

This is our home page. Click Login the keyboard image on the home page.

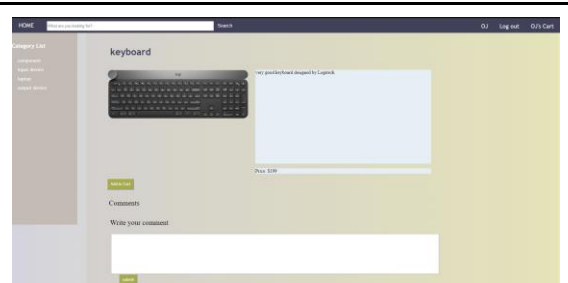

It is not fun as just being a visitor to view those products. But don't worry, click on Login.

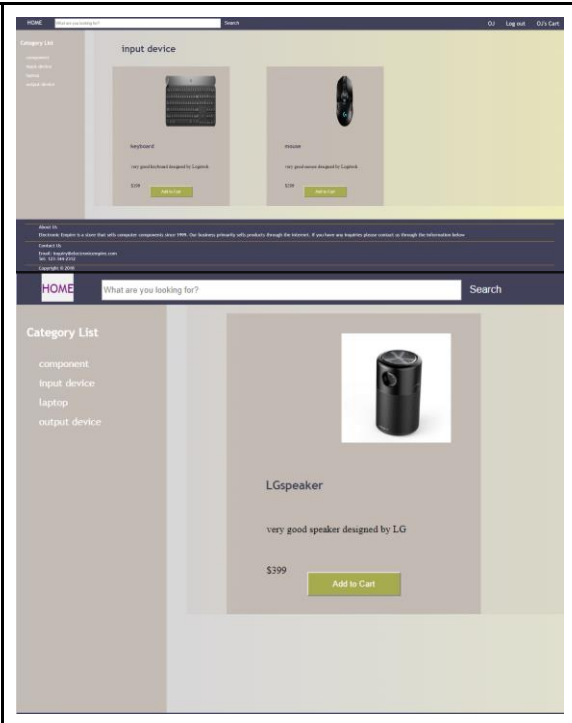

Enter OJ for username, and Oliver for password to acquire further access of the website.

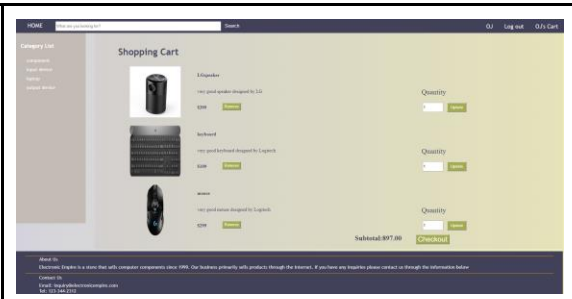

After logging onto OJ, the header of the website has changed. As you back to the homepage, click the keyboard image. Let's buy a Logitech keyboard. Clicking "Add to Cart," and confirm the action.

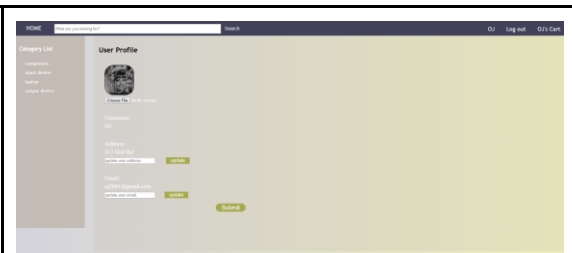

Let's also buy a mouse as well. Click "input device" and add a mouse to your cart as well. Moreover, you may want also to buy an output device. Let's search for "output" on the top search bar. Add the "LGspeaker" to the Cart as well.

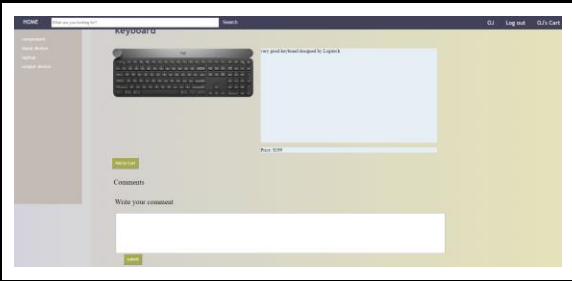

Now, let's check your Cart. Maybe you want to buy two keyboards instead. Simply update your keyboard's quantity, and click "UPDATE." Also, $399 for a speaker is too expensive, click "remove" for the LGspeaker. Let's checkout.

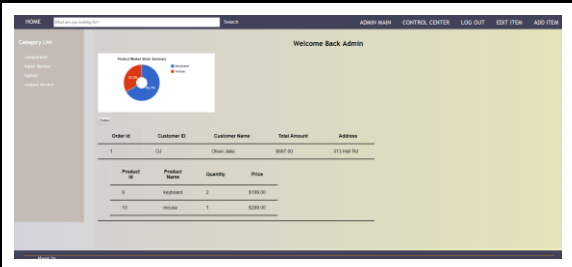

After you enter your User profile page. You could update your address to "3333 University Way". You can also update your image if you dislike the image. Click update or submit to complete the update process.

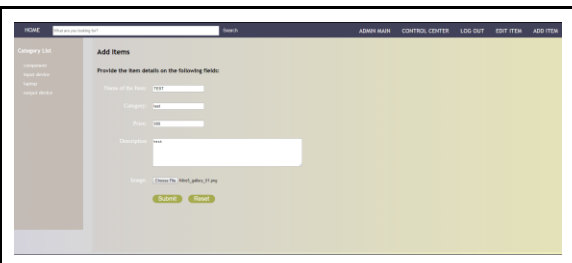

After finishing updating personal information, you may use category list or search bar to reach keyboard item page. On the item page, you can comment on the keyboard, “This is the best keyboard I have ever bought.”.

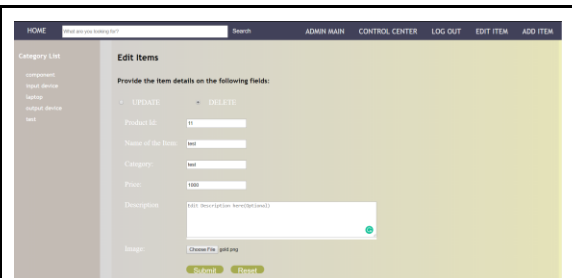

After complete commenting, let's log out through the header. And login with administrator access. Enter “Admin” for both username and password. And then, check the order customers have placed with the order button.

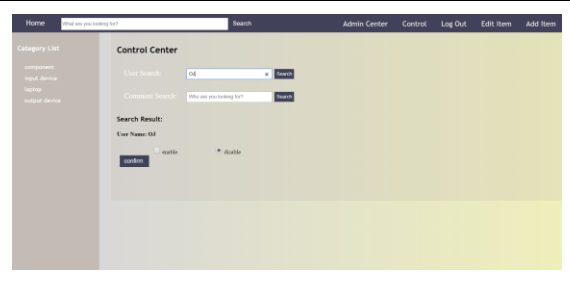

Click Add Item to upload a new product. Inside the page, you have to fill out all the fields, and upload an image less than 100KB. Note that, if you add a new category of product, the left category list will also update.

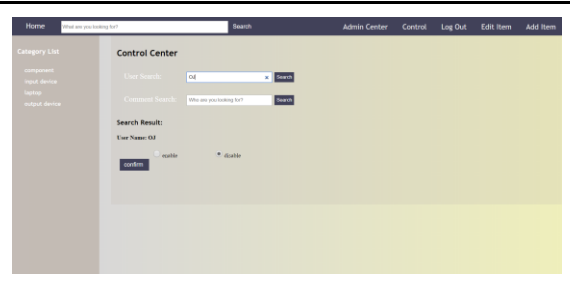

After creating a new product, you may go to the Edit Item page to update or remove such item from the database. Note that for security purpose, we assume administrator also has access to the database and be able to acquire product Id. Enter 11 for Product Id, and select DELETE option, click submit to remove the product you just added.

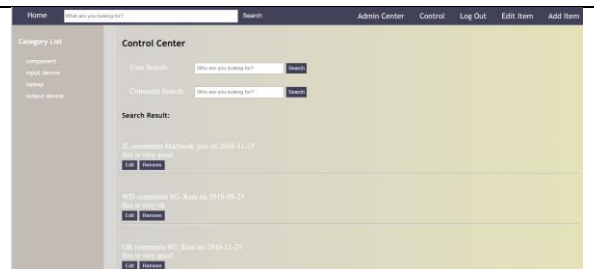

Admin can also edit Customer's status and delete comments. After entering "Control Center" page, search "OJ" in the user search bar.

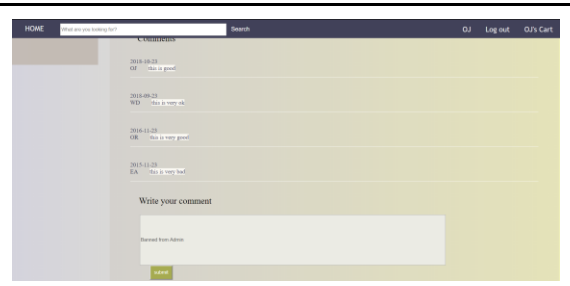

You might disable OJ's ability to comment on products by selecting "disable" or enable his ability to comment.

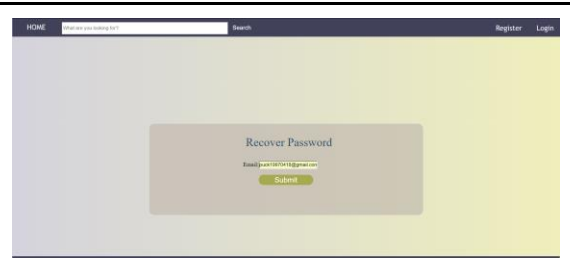

You may enter "this is very" for comment search. And you as an Administrator, you can edit or delete those vicious comments now by just clicking on those buttons.

If you want to check whether the admin banned you, log on to OJ with Oliver, and click any of that product page to view your status on the comment.

Finally, if you forgot admin's password, go to the login page, and click forgot password. enter "puck19970418@gmail.com"; it will reset your password and send a email to notify you.

HOME Search Register Login

Recover Password

Submit